Early Help Offer

'Early Help' describes the type of early intervention and support that can be provided when a child or young person's needs are not being met by routine universal services, but do not meet the threshold for a specialist service such as Children's Social Care

Early Help Offer is about working with partners to help children, young people and families; providing information, advice and services at the right time and supporting them to resolve their concerns as needs emerge.

- Bespoke learning interventions for pupils e.g. maths, English, memory, phonics
